

Dulverton to Tarr Steps

The ancient bridge of Tarr Steps is a well-known visitor attraction but the beautiful wooded valley of the River Barle is also worth exploring for its wildlife. Combined with the heathland of Winsford Hill and its wild ponies, this makes a varied walk.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Tarr Steps SS 868322

Tarr Steps is a 17 span clapper bridge (a bridge made of unmortared stone slabs), the longest of its kind in Britain. It was first mentioned in Tudor times but may be much older. The river has silted up over the last century and often now comes over the stones in times of flood. The bridge has had to be repaired several times as stones of up to two tonnes have been washed up to 50 metres downstream.

Tarr Steps Woodlands SS 866323

The woodlands around Tarr Steps were made a National Nature Reserve in 2004. They are internationally significant for the mosses, liverworts and lichens found here including a type of moss found in burrows, which appears to glow in the dark. The woods have a spectacular display of bluebell carpets in springtime. Dormice live amongst the mature hazel, blackberry and honeysuckle and otters feed on fish, eels and amphibians along the unpolluted, unmodified river. A popular circular footpath route, known as the Jubilee Trail, runs upstream of the bridge.

Winsford Hill SS 892320

Winsford Hill and its southern extension, South Hill, are leased and managed by the National Trust. It is home to the Anchor herd of Exmoor ponies. The pure-bred ponies have an anchor brand mark – the symbol of the Acland family who once preserved the breed in the former Royal Forest of Exmoor. The ponies are free living and are thought to be a race of wild horse rather than a breed.

EXMOOR NATIONAL PARK

Exmoor became Britain's eighth National Park in 1954 and these walks were designed to celebrate its Golden Anniversary.

The National Park covers 267 square miles of Somerset and Devon. It is a landscape of great variety: from rugged, towering cliffs to gently rounded hills, wooded valleys, colourful heaths, wild grass moors and farming hamlets and it is home to nearly 11,000 people.

WALK DIRECTIONS

- 1 Walk up to Bank Square at the top of Fore Street. Bear right around the church, up the steps to its side and left into the lane. Follow purple Restricted Byway sign to Broford. Continue uphill along the main track.
- 2 A mile from Dulverton, pass the track to Marsh Bridge on your left and go through the gateway ahead. Stay on the waymarked route across a field, forking right amongst the gorse signed Broford/Winsford. Go through the gate and along the lane to a junction with a tarmaced road. Turn left along the road. After half a mile turn left into a field via a hunting gate with blue Public Bridleway Mounsey Hill Gate. Keep to the left of the field, past Highercombe Farm to a gate onto moorland.
- 3 Take the track straight ahead. On meeting the road, turn right, cross the cattle grid and keep straight ahead on the moorland of Winsford Hill alongside the hedgebank for 50 yards, then drop diagonally to another road and cattle grid.
- 4 Cross the cattle grid and bear left along the track. After 50 yards bear right along the track towards Tarr Steps. This leads through a gateway and drops towards woodlands. Go through the gate at the bottom, fork right and cross the small bridge to Tarr Steps.
- 5 Cross Tarr Steps clapper bridge, bear round to the left for a few metres on the road then take the drive marked with a Public Bridleway sign leading upwards to the right in the direction of Hawkridge. This soon becomes a track.
- 6 Follow the blue Bridleway waymarks upwards through two gates, over the hill and down to Parsonage Farm. Go through a gate and past farm buildings. Continue down the farm drive to where it meets a tarmaced road.
- 7 Cross the road and go through the gate into a field. Keep ahead following signs and yellow waymarks over the fields to Hawkridge. At the houses, turn left down the road. Keep the church on your right following the track straight ahead towards Dulverton. The lane opens to fields and continues down through woods to Castle Bridge.
- 8 Cross the stone bridge. Keep the river on your left, following the path through woodland for two miles down to Marsh Bridge.
